PRIME MINISTER RESIGNS

BRITAIN'S CABINET ANNOUNCED

NO SURPRISES IN NEW MINISTERIAL BODY

London, June 7.

The House of Commons warmly greeted Mr. Ramsay MacDonald on his last day as Prime Minister when he rose to address the members to-day, making a brief reply to Mr. Winston Churchill on the much-debated subject of Britain's air defences.

Immediately after this short passage in the House, the retiring Prime Minister returned to No. 10 Downing Street, where he has made no small contribution to the history of Britain and from which he has deftly directed the affairs of state for the past several years.

He left No. 10 at 3.40 p.m. in a closed car and accompanied by Sir Clive Wigram, arrived at Buckingham Palace at 3.48 p.m. and was ushered into the presence of His Majesty. Mr. MacDonald had tea with the King and presented the resignation of the Cabinet.

On June 5, it was exactly six years since Mr. MacDonald was named Prime Minister and at that time he was close to the retired Labour leader, Lord Snowden. Lord Snowden, incidentally, was operated upon last night. His condition is stated as being satisfactory.

THE CABINET

There are no surprises in the British Cabinet, as announced to-day, for the forecasts were generally accurate.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin becomes the new Prime Minister and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald takes his place as Lord President of the Council. The following is the Cabinet:

Prime Minister, Mr. Baldwin; Lord President of the Council, Mr. MacDonald;

Home Secretary, Sir John Simon;

Foreign Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare;

Dominions' Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas;

Colonial Secretary, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald;

Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain;

India Secretary, Marquis Zetland;

Minister without Portfolio for League of Nations affairs, Mr. Anthony Eden;

Lord Chancellor, Viscount Halsbury;

Lord Privy Seal, Lord London-derry;

War Secretary, Lord Halifax;

Air Minister, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister;

Secretary for Scotland, Sir Godfrey Collins;

Health Minister, Sir Kingsley Wood;

Trade Minister, Mr. Walter Runciman;

Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell;

Education Minister, Mr. Oliver Stanley;

Agriculture Minister, Mr. Walter Elliot;

Labour Minister, Mr. Ernest Brown;

Commissioner of Works, Mr. W. G. A. Ormsby-Gore.

Sir John Simon has been appointed Deputy Leader in the House of Commons, in addition to his ministerial post.

Another Cabinet Minister without portfolio, Lord Eustace Percy, has been named.

Outside the Cabinet is the Postmaster-General, Major George C. Tryon, former Minister of Pensions.

Sir Hilton Young, former Minister of Health, has received a barony and Lord Londonderry has been named Leader in the House of Lords.

COMING AND GOING

London, June 7.

There has been an afternoon of coming and going between Buckingham Palace and 10 Downing Street.

BRITISH PEACE BALLOT

SUPPORT SOUGHT FOR LEAGUE

TESTING OPINION

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright. Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, June 6, 7.50 a.m.)

London, June 7.

The final result of the biggest unofficial ballot ever held in Britain will be announced by Viscount Cecil to-day.

It was organised by the League of Nations Union and was based upon five questions concerning the League of Nations, traffic in armaments, enforcement of the League Covenant, including sanctions.

This peace ballot attracted 10,000,000 votes, thanks to the assistance of 600,000 volunteers who canvassed the country.

Over 1,000 voluntary local committees have been working throughout the country on this matter and over 130 tons of literature have been distributed at a total cost of £13,000, all but £820 of which has been collected from the public, in sums ranging from a shilling to £1,000. Efforts are being made to raise the balance before June 27.

The British delegation, including Viscount Cecil, Lady Gladstone, Lord Dickenson and Sir Arthur Haworth, is attending the meeting of the International Federation of League of Nations Societies in Brussels to-morrow, when the proposal that a similar ballot be held in all countries will be discussed.—Reuter Special.

KIDNAPPER SENTENCED

St. Paul, June 7.

Volney Davis, notorious gangster, was sentenced to life imprisonment to-day for the part he played in the kidnapping of Mr. Edward Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker, in January, 1934.

Davis pleaded guilty.

He is also being questioned in connection with the kidnapping of little George Weyerhause, nine-year-old son of the Washington and Oregon timber millionaire, for whose release a ransom of $200,000 was paid a few days ago.—Reuter.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin, who has been appointed British Prime Minister in succession to Mr. Ramsay MacDonald.

HONGKONG TO TAKE CONTROL

NEW REGULATIONS GAZETTED

LICENSING SYSTEM

As a measure of co-operation with China in efforts to prevent the smuggling of silver, the Hongkong Government has decided to prohibit, except by permit, the export of Chinese silver coin and silver bars from the Colony, except under licence. An official notification to this effect appears in the current issue of the Government Gazette.

The embargo, which will not take effect until after midnight on June 15, applied to Chinese coin and silver bars produced in Hongkong or China. Coin and bars which have been legally exported from China are not affected. It will still be possible to export these latter dollars and bars from Hongkong.

Legitimate silver export transactions will not be interfered with under the embargo, which is designed purely for the purpose of checking the outflow of smuggled Chinese silver from the Colony.

TEXT OF ORDER

The new order has been made in the form of a regulation by the Governor-in-Council under the Importation and Exportation Ordinance. It reads as follows:

No person shall, after midnight of Saturday, June 15th, 1935, except under an export permit granted in his discretion by the Superintendent of Imports and Exports, export from the Colony to any country or place other than China:

(i) any silver coin minted in China; or
(ii) any silver bullion, other than silver bars the product of refineries outside the Colony of Hongkong and China.

Secrets Of Defence

BRITAIN ALIVE TO AIR RAID DANGER

London, June 7.

In the course of his last speech in the House of Commons as Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald said the Government were keenly alive to the danger of air raids. Since the committees dealing with air raids had been appointed, investigations had been greatly expedited. Their first duty was to collect information.

Mr. MacDonald emphasized the necessity of caution in making disclosures about the work of the committees. He added that the House need never fear that the Exchequer's stinginess would postpone an investigation which was so vital to the well-being and safety of Britain.

Thanks to investigations over a wide field of air defence by the supervisory committee and the scientific committee, he was able to take an optimistic view of the outcome of the research being undertaken.—Reuter.

Campaign For Happiness

ROOSEVELT'S HIGH AMBITION

Washington, June 7.

At a press conference to-day, President Roosevelt, when questioned with respect to the Administration's social legislation objectives, replied that its purpose was "to try to increase security and happiness of a larger number of people of all occupations and stations in life in all parts of the country, and give them a greater distribution not only of wealth in narrow terms, but of wealth in wider terms."

Meanwhile, the President emphasises that all voluntary codes and fair practice agreements must conform with the anti-trust laws of the nation. He said he believed off-hand that many did conform with these laws, but he wished to make it clear that he had authority to waive fundamental laws.

He does not object to inter-state compacts, however, now under consideration of group officials of the North-Eastern states.

Respecting oil compacts, he said he still desired that they include all producing states.—Reuter.

Mr. J. Ramsay MacDonald, who, on resigning the Premiership, has been appointed Lord President of the Council in the Baldwin Administration.

Naval Talks Adjourn

ANGLO-GERMAN VIEWS EXCHANGED

(By Telegraph. Copyright. Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, June 6, 7.50 a.m.)

London, June 7.

The German naval delegates are returning to Berlin to-morrow and are returning to London on June 13, after the Whitsun holiday. They have been discussing with British experts Germany's demand for a navy 80 per cent. of the total tonnage of the British Fleet.

An official communiqué states that the conversations have been proceeding satisfactorily.

The British have given a survey of the present naval situation and in addition some technical points have been discussed.

It is understood the earlier stages of the conversations were largely occupied with the British summary of the situation as it stands, following the naval talks with Japan and the United States last year.

It is assumed that Herr Joachim von Ribbentrop, chief German delegate, has given some explanation for Germany's claim to 35 per cent. of the British tonnage.—Reuter Special.

DEFENCE OF FRANC ENSURED

SUCCESSFUL APPEAL

Paris, June 7.

The new National Government, headed by M. Pierre Laval, obtained a vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies to-day by 412-137 on the question of shelving all interpellations with respect to the Government's monetary policy.

This overwhelming majority followed the reading of a ministerial declaration, the point of which was the demand for exceptional powers for the next five months "to ensure the defence of the franc and fight against speculation."

The powers we ask for are necessary for the protection of our political status of our country," said M. Laval in his plea for support.

The state of our public finance is the greatest menace to the franc. The whole world has its eyes on us.

"Our foreign policy, our security and peace would be threatened if we did not receive the full support of the Chamber to-day," he declared.—Reuter.

PLINARY POWERS

Paris, June 7.

The Chamber has adopted the Plenary Powers Bill by a vote of 328-161.

It was on this measure that the Laval Government was defeated.—Reuter.

ITALY'S CHARGES ANSWERED

BRITAIN'S ALLEGED INTRIGUES

EDEN DEMOLISHES MANY "WILD CRITICISMS"

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

(By Telegraph. Copyright. Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, June 8, 7.50 a.m.)

London, June 7.

Mr. Anthony Eden to-day demolished "the many wild criticisms directed against the British Government in the Italian press" when he defined the British attitude to the Italo-Abyssinian dispute in the House of Commons during the Whitsuntide adjournment debate.

"We have been charged with intrigue," he said, "and with encouraging the Ethiopian Government to adopt a hostile attitude towards Italy. This is as fantastic as the stories that our Colonies' football teams are aerodromes in disguise," he declared.

What possible good had Britain to gain by adding fuel to the smouldering fire in North-East Africa? Mr. Eden asked; and himself answered: none whatever.

On the contrary, the British Government had used its good offices in the interests of both parties and in the cause of peace, said Mr. Eden.

The British rights in Ethiopia were amply protected by treaty, Mr. Eden pointed out.

This statement of the Lord Privy Seal was made in answer to a question by Mr. Clement Attlee, Labour member.

Mr. Attlee suggested that it would be wise to tell Italy quite plainly that if she intended to use force in settling her dispute with Abyssinia that she could not enjoy the use of the Suez Canal.—Reuter Special.

INVESTIGATION ACCEPTED

Milan, June 7.

Before the adjournment of the Italo-Abyssinian Commission, which is seeking to sort out the difficulties between these two nations and smooth them by negotiation, Italy agreed to accept an investigation of all the frontier incidents which have brought the position on the borders of Italian Somaliland and Eritrea to a serious crisis.

MAKE-UP HINTS

By MAX FACTOR

POWDER... the first essential is face powder to harmonize with my colourings. Black hair, dark eyes, olive skin. Max Factor's Olive Powder is correct. A colour harmony tone, richly beautiful, to enliven the beauty of the skin. Fine in texture, it adheres perfectly and creates a satin-smooth make-up that clings for hours.

ROUGE... next, to impart youthful, natural glow of colour to the cheeks, rouge must, of course, harmonize with your face powder and your colourings. Max Factor's Raspberry Rouge is correct for me. A perfect colour-tone... and creamy-smooth, like fine skin-texture, it blends evenly... imparting a delicate, lifelike colouring.

LIPSTICK... last, and so very important, is lip make-up to accent the lovely appeal of your lips. Max Factor's Super-Indelible Crimson Lipstick completes my colour harmony make-up. It's moisture-proof, the colour is natural and permanent and once I've made up my lips I know they'll appear perfect for hours.

When you see the lovely beauty of Claudette Colbert flash upon the screen, you know that she gives extra thought to her make-up. Each detail is perfect, yet unnoticeable. It is the vision of beauty that attracts and impresses.

To me, make-up means the accentuation of nature's colourings," explains Claudette Colbert. "That is why colour harmony make-up, created by Max Factor, is so perfect. The colour tones of powder, rouge and lipstick harmonize to bring out a new enchanting loveliness."

New loveliness for you, too... for you may now share the luxury of colour harmony make-up, created originally for the screen stars by Max Factor, Hollywood's make-up genius.

Rene Clair to Direct Donat

LAUGHTON AS CYRANO

Rene Clair will direct his first British picture for London Film Productions this month.

The star of this film will be Robert Donat, who was last seen in the title role in "The Count of Monte Cristo," and has since made "Thirty-nine Steps."

Rene Clair stated that he has been anxious to direct Robert Donat ever since he saw him while on a visit to London in the stage play, "The Sleeping Clergyman." He regards Robert Donat as one of the greatest young male actors yet discovered for the international screen.

As soon as Rene Clair has completed the Robert Donat starring vehicle, he will direct another London Film Production with Charles Laughton in the leading role.

This will be Edmond Rostand's famous play, "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Charles Laughton will play Cyrano, and Penelope Dudley Ward is to be Roxane.

Miss Dudley Ward is being promoted to the leading woman's part after only one picture, "Escape Me Never."

MARLENE DIETRICH'S FUTURE

Marlene Dietrich, the German film star, has in Hollywood signed a new contract with Paramount at the rate of £100,000 a year—£50,000 each for two films a year. That is the greatest sum she has yet received.

Under the new agreement she will no longer be directed by Josef Von Sternberg, who has guided her in her films since her arrival in Hollywood, with the exception of "Song of Songs."

Ernst Lubitsch, who had been mentioned as her next director, is out of the running owing to executive duties.

LILIAN HARVEY

Lillian Harvey, the film actress, stepped into the witness-box at Barnet (Hertfordshire) Police Court recently wearing her film make-up. She had come straight from a "set" at Elstree.

She told of a motor car collision in which she was involved.

Harry John Arthur White, of Studios Parade, Shenley Road, Boreham Wood, was summoned for driving a motor car dangerously at Elstree.

Lillian Harvey, who gave her address as Brockley Hall, Stanmore, said she was a passenger in her brother's motor car when White drove round a bend in the road on his wrong side and his motor car collided with theirs.

White, who pleaded that the lights of a stationary motor omnibus dazzled him, was fined £10.

KAY FRANCIS'S PLANS

Kay Francis, the film actress, has arrived in Paris on a flying visit before going to London.

"Afterwards," she states, "I intend to go to Cannes. It is only after I have conferred with Maurice Chevalier that I shall come to a decision about my next film. Maurice is an excellent comrade."

TOM BROWN'S SCHOOLDAYS

"Tom Brown's Schooldays," the famous Rugby classic by Thomas Hughes, which was seen as a silent film by the King and Queen at a Command performance at

Buckingham Palace nearly 20 years ago, is now to be screened as a talkie by Rex Wilson, one of the pioneers of the film industry in Britain.

The picture, which goes into production in the next few weeks at the Consolidated Studios, Elstree, is part of the extensive programme of the newly formed £100,000 organisation, Anglo-American Renters (Ltd.)

Rex Wilson was responsible for the old silent production of "Tilly of Bloomsbury" and "Quinneys."

TWINS FOR RICHARD DIX

Virginia Webster, the wife of Richard Dix, the film actor, has given birth at Hollywood to twin boys, weighing respectively 6 lb. 9 ozs. and 6 lb. 2 ozs.

Richard Dix rushed from the hospital to spread the news, says Leiter. "I'm just twice as happy as I thought I would be," he said.

POISON FATAL TO MOTHS

READYING the house for summer, packing away winter apparel, rugs and blankets is the most important household work of the year. Inspect carefully for moth eggs and larvae, air and sun a-plenty, brush briskly and apply generously a dependable deterrent. These rules should be followed to insure against ravages during the summer. Moths die only by suffocation or contact with poison.

If liquids are used, spray garments freely, storing immediately in closets, trunks, boxes or bundles with all openings sealed by gummed tape or paraffin. Paper wrappings should be thick, unbroken and with folded edges doubled back to prevent moth crawling in.

Flakes, crystals, and gum camphor must be used in quantities of one pound to each ten cubic feet of space in tightly permanently sealed compartments.

Fume dispensers hung in closets constantly used are totally ineffective. Clothes worn often or dry-cleaned are not subject to attack. Encase vacuumed rugs after treatment in sealed rolls.

Slip-covers are a paradise for moths. Remove them often, brushing upholstery with stiff whisk-broom and treating fabric. Store fur coats. Expensive clothes bags are sheer exploitation. Moths do not eat cotton. Avoid bulk purchases at low prices, buying only the best remedies made by responsible firms. Read directions carefully and follow them exactly.

Buckingham Palace nearly 20 years ago, is now to be screened as a talkie by Rex Wilson, one of the pioneers of the film industry in Britain.

The picture, which goes into production in the next few weeks at the Consolidated Studios, Elstree, is part of the extensive programme of the newly formed £100,000 organisation, Anglo-American Renters (Ltd.)

There are two proposals before the Home Office Committee. One is for separate domestic courts, and the other for conciliatory machinery in existing courts.

"The work of the British Social Hygiene Council, which is this year celebrating its 21st anniversary, has as its central object the elimination of the scourge of venereal disease. Stability in marriage is essential if this is to be achieved. Lord Stanley of Alderley is now appealing for £100,000, so that the work of the council may be broadened."

"SAVE MARRIAGE" CAMPAIGN

APPEAL FOR CONCILIATORY MACHINERY

WRECKED HOMES

Social workers and others in close touch with British Police Courts are gravely alarmed at the growing number of matrimonial cases in which marriages which might be saved are wrecked through lack of conciliatory machinery in the Courts, says the British Social Hygiene Council, in a statement issued in connection with the appeal which is being made by Lord Stanley of Alderley for £100,000 for widening the work of the Council.

"Mr. Mullins' experiment at the North London Police Court more than a year ago would, it was confidently hoped," the Council states, "lead to the installation of conciliatory methods in our other summary Courts. This, however, has not proved to be the case, and an overwhelming majority of Police Courts are still without any machinery of this kind.

"Mr. Mullins asked the British Social Hygiene Council to assist him in the formation of a panel of medical psychologists who would be prepared to advise the parties in domestic disputes in the hope that homes and families might not be broken up.

"The experiment was successful both at the North London Police Court, and at the South-Western Police Court, at which Mr. Mullins is now Magistrate. Since I came here in November a large number of these domestic cases have been referred to members of the medical panel, and a number of married couples have been reconciled and put on sound lines for the future," he said. "The beneficial effects on the parties concerned and on their children are bound to be great."

REPORT AWAITED

"The report of the Summary Courts (Social Services) Committee, which was set up by the Home Office to hear evidence and to consider the whole question of conciliatory measures in matrimonial cases, is anxiously awaited. It is hoped that the recommendations of the Committee will be available soon, and that the result will be that either separate matrimonial courts or some other measures will be taken with official censure to check the toll of wrecked marriages.

"The British Social Hygiene Council has presented a mass of evidence to the Committee. In one court where the position was analysed it was found that out of 472 matrimonial cases 256 were due to ignorance in matters which a medical psychologist might have put right."

"Mrs. Neville Rolfe, secretary-general of the Council, which has played a leading role in the campaign to "save marriage," said: "It has now become widely recognised that many applications for separation orders, in the early years of marriage particularly, are due to ignorance of the physical basis of marriage. The Council, with the aid of the B.M.A., readily responded to the suggestion of Mr. Mullins, the London Magistrate, and a panel of medical practitioners has now been formed in the south-western area to act in an advisory capacity when requested to do so by the Magistrate."

"There are two proposals before the Home Office Committee. One is for separate domestic courts, and the other for conciliatory machinery in existing courts.

"The work of the British Social Hygiene Council, which is this year celebrating its 21st anniversary, has as its central object the elimination of the scourge of venereal disease. Stability in marriage is essential if this is to be achieved. Lord Stanley of Alderley is now appealing for £100,000, so that the work of the council may be broadened."

100 YEARS HENCE PAPER CLOTHES AND DISHES

CURE FOR COLDS AND LOVE

Dr. Elizabeth Sloan Chesser visualizes the world of a hundred years hence. Speaking at a luncheon in connection with the annual conference of the Electrical Association for Women, in Manchester, she said:

"Electricity will be a panacea for everything, from cold in the head to unrequited love, for by increasing the physical and mental powers in the body you become magnetic, and in that way need never suffer from unrequited love."

"Electricity is making domesticity popular among women. Our great-great-grandchildren in 2022 will not need vacuum cleaners. They will just walk into a room with a little box, and by centrifugal force all the dust and germs will be attracted into the electrical box."

"The women will be able to change their clothing, made of paper-like silk, twice a day, without the bother of cleaning them. They will merely put them, along with the dishes, also of paper, into an electric furnace."

"Doctors will not prescribe drugs in the future. They will tell us to go on flying trips for health, to visit different countries and meet new people. The doctors of the future will look back on medicine to-day in the same way as we regarded the period of Nero, with his snakes and love potions, and the witch-doctors and medicine men of Africa."

"The world is now ruled by fear and hate. In that future we must have a new technique of courage and a will for peace."

"SOULLESS SCIENTISTS"

Professor W. L. Bragg, of Manchester University and a son of Sir William Bragg, the eminent scientist, said science and scientists had been getting hard knocks lately. There was a feeling that science had been overdone, that it was hurrying the world too much, finding out too many new things and upsetting people by giving them too many new powers. Science was being held responsible for the horrors of war.

Scientists were pictured as completely soulless, heartless people, the embodiment of cruel reason.

"At the present mankind is in the middle of the greatest adventure of its history, a turning point—this great scientific adventure. People in years to come will look back on this time and wonder what it felt like to live now, when every few years saw the rate at which we could travel, our communications, our powers to make things—all our material powers—doubled and trebled in each generation."

A BARRIER BURST

It is not because a new race of supermen has appeared. Scientists have simply been studying nature and bending her to their will, and in the last few years, quite suddenly, a sort of barrier has burst. Man has had an enormous wealth of new powers given him. It is extraordinarily important that people should understand these new powers. The power which nature hid most jealously has appeared, summed up in the word "electricity."

Sir John Brooke, vice-chairman of the Electricity Commissioners, said the most imminent feature of industrial civilisation was its concentration of noisy workplaces, smoke, and dirt.

It was due to the incompetent marriage of industry and the steam engine, and from that electricity offered an easy and economical divorce.

It had been stated that smoke cost Manchester £750,000 a year, and that the weekly washing time

AMERICAN BRIDE

MISS C. ANDERSON WEDS MIR. G. ROCKHOLTZ

The American community were well represented among the guests at St. Joseph's Church, Garden Road, yesterday evening when a charming American visitor to Hongkong, Miss Carletta Karina Anderson, B.S., became the bride of Mr. Georg Otto Rockholtz, Dipl. Agr.

The Rev. Father Riganiti officiated at the ceremony. A song and a violin solo were given by Mrs. R. Sanger and Mr. John Braga.

University Graduate

The bride arrived here from Shanghai on Thursday aboard the President Coolidge. Since October of last year, the bride and her sister, Miss Kathleen Anderson, have been guests of their aunt, Mrs. W. T. Collins, at the American Consulate, Shanghai. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, reside in Seattle. The bride is a graduate of the Washington University and this is her first visit to Hongkong.

Mr. Rockholtz, who is connected with the Texas Co., is the son of Mr. Wilhelm Rockholtz of Berlin.

He has been in South China for the last five years and is a graduate of the Berlin and Hamburg University.

The bride, who entered the church with the arm of Dr. H. F. Sommers, looked lovely in a white organdie cut-work flower patterned dress of French design. Her little white organdie halo-style hat was trimmed with small orange blossoms. She carried a white flowered posy of white flowers.

Attending the bride was her sister, Miss Kathleen Anderson, attired in a blue organdie dress and carrying a posy of pink flowers.

Little Eleanor Sanger, as flower girl, wore a blue "Kate Greenaway" styled gown and carried pink rosebuds.

Mr. B. G. Lawrence, district manager of the Texas Co., was best man.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Abemore Court, and later the happy couple left for the honeymoon which is being spent at Repulse Bay Hotel. On leaving, Mrs. Rockholtz wore a three piece white linen suit.

"PREPARED TO DIE"

In telling witness to "keep quiet," second defendant said, "You have money and don't want to die. I haven't any money and am quite prepared to die."

The two men after searching the room left, but before doing so, the taller of the two, second defendant, said, "Don't report this or I will stab you in a week's time." The men then went into the next room. About ten minutes later the amah came up and released witness. A telephone message was sent to the police, who arrived shortly after.

At a later date witness identified three men at the Kowloon City Police Station. The first two men were two of the robbers, the other was the garde-pique, who did not take part in the robbery at all.

Second defendant denied that he threatened to stab witness if she reported the matter, and alleged that it was the man who had not been arrested.

Inspector W. R. Chester-Woods testified to receiving a telephone call yesterday. He went to No. 1 Cornwall Road and found the house in a state of disorder. A search was made and in a corner of the scullery a file was found standing point upwards.
Two other daggers were also found in the scullery.

Formal police evidence was given by W. P. Thompson, Assistant Superintendent of Police (Kowloon), and Lo Yung-shing, interpreter. The men were then committed for trial.

MR. MACDONALD'S
RETIREMENT

Normally, the resignation of a British Prime Minister is a political event of high importance and significance. No such description can, however, be applied to the replacement of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald by Mr. Baldwin. Not that the retiring Premier has not rendered high service to his country; without question, he has. But for some considerable time past, largely from reasons of health, Mr. MacDonald has been little other than nominal leader of the Government. He has, also, because of a certain lack of definiteness in his recent utterances, lost a considerable measure of the popularity and prestige which he held in the early days of the National Government's existence. With the Government predominantly Conservative in political complexion, it is more in keeping with the realities that Mr. Baldwin should take over its leadership. Yet Mr. MacDonald's retirement for all practical purposes from active political life does mark a definite stage in the evolution of British politics. It is early in the day as yet to assess at its true worth Mr. MacDonald's contribution to his day and time. Looking back over his career, it must be conceded that it has been in many respects a remarkable one. The son of a farm labourer, who later became a pupil teacher, then went to London practically penniless, took up journalism, and eventually found his way into political activity. Mr. MacDonald will go down in history as Britain's first Socialist Prime Minister. By deep study when a youth, and by travel and by reading, he became a man of culture. In his early days, he was a rabid Socialist, and in the Great War he made no secret of the fact that he was an out-and-out pacifist, whilst again and again he figured prominently in Labour strike movements. But gradually he weaned himself from the more extreme element of the Socialists, and it was not altogether surprising that when the nation was faced with a financial crisis of the first magnitude, he should come out boldly for a National Government, making his decision, so it is said, without even consulting his former colleagues. This dramatic move, by which he placed country above party, gave him an enormously enhanced prestige and was without doubt a turning point for the better in the fortunes of the nation. For this, his name deserves to be remembered amongst other great leaders of the past. Lat-

NOTES OF THE DAY

SCARING UP WAR

Numerous are the uses of the war scare. It will sell newspapers, as any bright newsboy might observe, and as all news editors know. It will provide business for munitions makers. It will consolidate public opinion and take the people's mind off domestic troubles. And it will help with electioneering. In a preface he has written for a book on National Labour Party policy, published recently, the retiring British Prime Minister says that "war scares have become a stock-in-trade of partisan fighting." And Mr. MacDonald is not vague about what he has found to be the popular press's contribution to these scares: "The selling value of a popular newspaper whose aim is circulation, is headlines. And the selling headline must provide a daily thrill. The most ordinary event must be 'sensational,' 'astounding,' 'a monstrous scandal,' and what not. Rumour is made to rank with fact, and necessary hysteria is supplied by invention which has not even the value of rumour. This is one of the gravest dangers public opinion and democratic judgment have now to face in domestic affairs. But when international matters are dealt with in the same way, the danger to world peace is of the gravest kind."

ABUSE OF SENTIMENT

Mr. MacDonald's concern with the abuses of public sentiment through the scare headline is widely shared by thoughtful people. His expression of this concern is peculiarly timely because of the tense feeling—amounting in some countries to a war scare—that has gripped much of the world. In Great Britain it is expected that Mr. MacDonald's preface to the Labour policy book is also a preface to attempts at more stringent press control. A big question would be raised by such attempts. They might involve the very freedom of speech which is a fundamental of democracy. They might result in the press's being more easily abused for political purposes than it is to-day. Actually it is not so difficult as it may appear for news readers to discriminate between the necessarily disturbing news of international affairs and that which is merely destructively sensational. That they do not discriminate is due no more to ignorance than to inertia. Perhaps Mr. MacDonald's observations will help to break that inertia. The peoples are taking a bigger part in the policies of nations to-day than they may imagine, and that, no doubt, is why the ex-Prime Minister would impress upon the public the fact that "Secret diplomacy was bad; the diplomacy of papers out for circulation and of parties out for votes is deadly."

TO-DAY'S MOTORING HINT

WHEN OVERTAKING

Many accidents occur when one vehicle is overtaking another. Before attempting to overtake a slower moving vehicle it is necessary to wait for the come-on signal from the other driver.

In this connection, however, it should be remembered that such a signal should not be obeyed implicitly, since some drivers are apt to give it without due regard to the traffic conditions at the time.

The driver of a commercial vehicle cannot always estimate the speed at which cars are travelling, and in ignorance may wave-on a following driver when the accelerating powers of the car are not equal to the occasion.

It is always advisable to satisfy oneself that there is ample room to overtake and regain the near-side of the road without incommuting on-coming vehicles. It is a case where the driver of the overtaking car must judge for himself.

terly, Mr. MacDonald has lost contact with most of his former Labour colleagues, as well as with the rank and file of his old party. He has, indeed, incurred Labour wrath by inferring that it is the party, and not himself, which has forsaken true Labour principles. Actually, advancing years and responsibility have undoubtedly changed his political outlook, so that to-day his views are scarcely distinguishable from those of progressive Conservatives. Now he can lay down the high office which he has held for several years, conscious of duty well done. The Government is still in capable hands under the leadership of Mr. Baldwin, the veteran statesman whose reputation never stood higher and whose honesty of purpose is beyond question. The reshuffling of posts strengthens its position rather than otherwise, a fact in which Britons everywhere can find cause for much satisfaction.

MEN DON'T MARRY
FIRST LOVES

By MISS CLEMENCE DANE

One of the most versatile and stimulating of women writers, the author of "A Bill of Divorcement" and other famous plays and of several novels which have attracted widespread attention, here discusses the arresting comment made by Mr. Justice Swift in the High Court—Very few men, I imagine, marry the woman that they first tell they love."

And in this they are lucky, for thus they escape the "breach of promise" menace. They need not fear later ridicule because at eighteen they felt and behaved as youth has a right to feel, and behave.

Not everybody, of course, allows them the right. To the poet first love may be a "violet in the youth of primy nature," but to the average parent it is an emotional measles to be cured according to your school of thought. The paternal school believes in ignoring the whole situation.

"Oh, no, we never mention him, his name is never heard," or alternatively in hurrying off the sufferer to the Riviera for a nice change.

The maternal school of medicine, on the other hand, treats first love as they used to treat measles in old-fashioned nurseries. There was no question of preventive remedies. "Let 'em catch it and get it over." Just so, the maternal policy is generally to throw them together till they are sick of the sight of one another. The cure is quick and lasting, and everybody is pleased.

But why, why is everybody pleased? Why do we all agree to regard a unique emotional experience as values just because it does not last? Is durability the only test? Then why did we put up Jubilee decorations and enjoy looking at them? I heard the other day of a poor man who was left a legacy of fifty pounds, and spent the whole of it on a journey to Egypt because he wanted to see the Sphinx. But his relations wanted him to buy a Government bond. Who was the wiser, he or they?

It depends, I suppose, simply and solely on one's years. Youth asks only to feel. Age asks only to feel safe. And if youth could stay young and middle-age be born forty years old, all would be well. The trouble is that youth can't stay young.

The lively human caterpillar reverses the natural process by developing into a slow-fluttering moth. It forgets the Sphinx and discovers the income tax. Then, and naturally, it furiously regrets its fifty pounds and has no words bad enough for its former self.

But sometimes the middle-aged are punished for their contempt. The doctors tell us that people who escape measles in youth seldom contract it in later life, but that when they do the consequences can be serious.

It is just the same with love. The men or women who have never experienced the delirium of calf love should look out when they near the fifties. For if they do catch the complaint they will become as insane and very much more ridiculous than any luckless young couple hopefully on the road to Gretna Green.

For luckless Youth in the lumbering stage coach of romance seldom gets as far as Gretna Green. ("Very few men marry the woman they first tell they love"). But Maturity in its limousine rolls down all too easily to Reno.

BULLS AND INNERS

From the Office Butts

For the second Monday in succession there's to be a holiday. So whilst Geneva discusses the 40-hour week, Hongkong gets it.

Maybe when local bankers say money is tight they mean that the Hongkong dollar keeps staggering about.

Newspaper headline:—"H.M.S. Cicada in Brush with Pirates."

Presumably a Jack-Tar Brush!

Nobody seems to have thought of calling the Hongkong night displays last month "Jabilluminations."

A statesman recently talked over a 25,000-mile telephone circuit to prove that "there are no earthly limits to human speech." A visit to Ice House Street proves the same thing.

A local typist was recently dismissed for reading a novel at work. She lost her place.

A reader wants to know what is a test of good cocktails. No mourning after.

Which calls to mind the fact that a writer in a medical journal recently stated that intoxication can be caused by ordinary water. This should restore its lost prestige as a beverage.

VIGNETTES OF LIFE

By J. NORMAN LYND

INNOCENT CONVICT FREED

WILL AID POLICE QUEST

"I WILL GO STRAIGHT"

"A man cannot describe his feelings when he is sentenced to seven years' imprisonment for an offence he has not committed. The first week of the sentence nearly killed me."

These are the words of John Binney, the 31-year-old Sheffield fitter, who has spent ten months of a seven years' sentence in Dartmoor Prison for an offence of which he was innocent.

Binney returned to his home in Rockingham Street, Sheffield, recently. The street, in which the Binney family live, had been decorated by neighbours in honour of the occasion.

Last July Binney was sentenced at Derbyshire Assizes to penal servitude on a charge of demanding money by menaces from Mrs. Hilda Annie Clift of the Rising Sun Hotel, Bamford. Binney was alleged to have written letters demanding £200 from Mrs. Clift. The letters contained threats to kill her if she did not comply.

At the trial handwriting experts differed, but the jury decided that Binney wrote the letters. But since Binney has been in Dartmoor, other letters have been received in the same writing.

So the Home Office took the unusual course of referring the case to the Court of Criminal Appeal, where Binney's own appeal had already been dismissed, and the conviction was quashed.

FULL OF EXCITEMENT

In an interview with a correspondent Binney said: "On Tuesday I was mystified at being brought to London. I knew something was happening, but what I could not guess. The warders who brought me up from Dartmoor could not tell me anything.

"I was taken to Brixton Prison for the night, but I did not sleep for one moment, and I could not eat the breakfast they offered me. People may not believe this of a fairly hardened criminal like myself. But it is true. I was full of excitement."

"Two petitions I had made to the Home Secretary had already failed to get my case reopened. Unbeknown to me, fresh evidence was being gathered. The first I knew of it was when I spoke to Mr. Reginald Ashworth, my solicitor, a few moments before stepping into the dock at the Court. He did not tell me what it was. He said I should hear it all."

TO HELP THE POLICE

"My feelings were mixed when I heard my counsel, Mr. A. J. Flint, tell the Court that since I had been in prison Mrs. Clift had received further menacing letters written in what was supposed to be my handwriting."

"I was elated, and yet I felt savage that the man who had caused me such misery and wrong imprisonment was still going on with his vile work. What can one think of any one who lets another man go to prison for seven years and suffer as I had?"

"I at once made up my mind to do all I can to help the police to find this man. Don't forget that I have to return to Sheffield, my home, where this man is still at work."

"I am going home to live with my mother. I have sworn to myself I will go straight and never get into trouble again. Every convict does that, but I mean it after all this."

COMPENSATION POINT

The quashing of Binney's seven years' sentence after serving part of the time in prison is not without precedent, although there have been no notable cases of the kind within recent years.

The constitution of the Court of Criminal Appeal was substantially the outcome of the noted Adolf Beck case, in which an innocent man suffered over five years' imprisonment and was granted £5,000.

One of the outstanding cases of recent times was the quashing of the conviction of Mrs. Johnson, who was granted a free pardon after serving 18 months' imprisonment, it being alleged that she had written threatening letters.

On the point whether compensation is granted after the quashing of a conviction, application must first be made to the State by the wrongfully convicted person. No decision on this point has yet been made by Binney's legal advisers.

Compensation has been given to several persons whose convictions have been quashed, the amounts varying from £5,000 in Beck's case to £2 in a case in which two legal advisers.

FOISTED UPON PUBLIC

J. J. BRADDOCK DENOUNCED

BY PRESIDENT OF N. B. A.

Providence, R. I., June 1. "James J. Braddock is being foisted upon a gullible fight public in his role as contender for the heavyweight title," said Mr. Edward C. Foster, President of the National Boxing Association, when discussing the current heavyweight situation.

"Braddock," Mr. Foster continued, "isn't in the same class with Baer. He is merely the fortunate victim of a high-handed scheme to enrich some individuals connected with the fight game. He's an in-and-outter, and although he did outscore Art Lasky in his most recent fight he didn't in my opinion, look like a title contender when he fought John Henry Lewis last December. Lewis should have been given the decision in that bout."

(Johnson scored a home run for the Athletics).

Owing to rain the match between St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Reds was postponed.

South Africans Continue To Win LEADERS BADLY BEATEN

NINE WICKET DEFEAT AT WORCESTER

YORKSHIRE DISPLACE DERBY AT HEAD OF AFFAIRS

London, June 7. Rain throughout the country curtailed play in the majority of the county cricket championship matches but the weather at Worcester did not prevent Derbyshire, hitherto leaders in the championship race from being defeated by Worcestershire who won by nine wickets and thus enabled Yorkshire, who had previously beaten Hampshire in two days, to assume the leadership for the first time this season.

Derbyshire owe their defeat to the complete collapse of their batsmen in the second innings when Jackson and Howorth skittled out the side for 54 runs.

In their first innings Derbyshire scored a lead over their opponents by scoring 197 runs and then dismissing Worcestershire for 161. Mitchell had five victims for 56.

With both Jackson and Howorth in deadly form Derbyshire tailed miserably in their second venture. Jackson took four for 14 and Howorth six for 16. Worcestershire lost one wicket in 20 runs, for victory.

The South Africans continue in winning vein and at Northampton they beat Northants by an innings and 35 runs to the current heavyweight situation of "Braddock." Mr. Foster continued, "isn't in the same class with Baer. He is merely the fortunate victim of a high-handed scheme to enrich some individuals connected with the fight game. He's an in-and-outter, and although he did outscore Art Lasky in his most recent fight he didn't in my opinion, look like a title contender when he fought John Henry Lewis last December. HELEN WILLS-MOODY

HELEN WILLS WINS

NEARLY BEATEN IN ENGLAND

EX-CHAMPION'S COME-BACK

(Special to "Telegraph")

Weybridge, June 7. Mrs. Helen Wills-Moody, in her tennis come-back campaign, narrowly escaped an abrupt setback to-day when the former international champion barely defeated a promising young English player, Miss Mary Hardwick, in three sets.

Mrs. Moody won 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, but she was playing far under her old time form.

She was nearly eliminated in the second set.

To-morrow she meets Miss Billie

Strawson.—United Press.

After an interval of 18 months from the game she will naturally require extended practice if she is to regain her former position in the game. There is an old saying that player "never comes back" once the racket has been laid aside for an extended period. This may not apply to the former American lady champion who is still young enough to take up her racket again with every hope of reproducing her great talent which is now dormant.

If she has sufficient incentive, however, she will discover that her contemporaries, such as Miss Round, Miss Judd, Miss Mathis and Miss Payot, have steadily improved their games in the interval and will not be suffering from any inferiority complex if they meet her again in singles.

There is moreover a new generation of players in the field—of whom Great Britain has had fair share—many of them capable of holding their own in international competition and likely to advance into the world class during the coming season.

Miss Round demonstrated in Wimbleton two years ago, when she won a set from Mrs. Wills Moody, that the gap between the American lady and her rivals was even then steadily closing, and the present Wimbleton lady champion has materially advanced her game since then.

Tommy, who had intended to take a cruise around Cape Horn abandoned this plan to hurry home to Philadelphia, when informed that his mother, Mrs. Anna Loughran, was in a Philadelphia hospital suffering from heart disease.

BOWLS TOURNEY
CONTINUEDSINGLES MATCH
PLAYEDPAIRS FIXTURE
CONCLUDED

A. M. Rumjahn, of the Indian Recreation Club, defeated S. J. Houghton, of the Kowloon Cricket Club, by 21 shots to eight on the 16th head in their tie in the Lawn Bowls Open Singles Championship on the Club de Recreio green yesterday.

The match was originally scheduled to have been played on Thursday, but had to be put off owing to the sodden green.

Rumjahn thoroughly deserved his win, which was the result of some good bowling. He scored on nine heads, registering a four on the seventh head and three threes. Houghton started well and ran away with a lead of six shots without reply from his opponent, but thereafter Rumjahn scored consistently on almost every head.

OPEN PAIRS MATCH

A. R. Dallah and M. Y. Adal had bad luck in losing to H. H. Rose and J. M. Purves in the second round of the Open Pairs Competition when their match was discontinued on the Craigengower C.C. green yesterday afternoon.

At their first meeting, Rose and Purves were leading by 15-12 on the sixteenth head.

On the first head, the seventeenth, played yesterday, Dallah and Adal drew level by scoring a three. They followed this up by registering a four on the eighteenth.

The European pair, however, came back with a single and a two.

When the last head was played, Dallah and Adal were leading by 19-18.

Purves and Rose were lying one when Dallah had one more wood left. He could play for safety and give his opponents one, staking the match on an extra head; or he could try to push one of his own woods up for the shot.

He chose the latter course, but instead of promoting one of his own, he promoted one of his opponents' giving them two instead of one. Rose and Purves thus won by 20-19.

Active Father

"I feel in duty bound," writes (Mrs.) A. J. W., "to express my gratitude for the marvelous results my father has obtained from Kruschen Salts. They should really be called 'Miracles.' He is ninety-two years old, and is as fit as a fiddle. He can nip about, and run up and down stairs. His friends marvel why it is he is always alert, and never feels slack. He always tells them the reason—my regular daily dose of Kruschen Salts in my first cup of tea every morning! We always recommend Kruschen Salts to all our friends. To my idea no family should be without it."—(Mrs.) A. J. W.

Most people grow old long before their time because they neglect one vital point of health—the need for internal cleanliness. Eventually they start the healthy Kruschen habit. Then they start getting rid every day of all waste matter from the system. New, healthy blood goes coursing through the veins. And almost immediately you feel your youth has returned; you feel young, energetic and happy. In a word, you've got that famous Kruschen Feeling."

CINEMA NEWS

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

Marking the ascent of Virginia Bruce to the brink of stardom, "Times Square Lady," a different story of New York night life will be screened from to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre. Featured with Miss Bruce is Robert Taylor, another comparative newcomer to the film for whom stardom is predicted. He registered a sensational hit in "Society Doctor." Still a third personality is Pinky Tomlin, the hortalling crooner from Oklahoma who crashed to fame when he wrote "The Object of My Affection" and "What's the Reason I'm Not Pleasing You?" and rode the tides to personal popularity in a fashionable Los Angeles ballroom. Still others in the cast are Helen Twelvetrees, Nat Pendleton, Russell Hopton, Robert Elliott, Henry Kolker, Isabel Jewell and Fred Kohler. "Times Square Lady" is comedy-drama with a romantic story with something of the flavour of "The Thin Man." It deals with an Iowa girl who finds herself suddenly the heir to a variety of metropolitan sporting enterprises. Her struggles to keep her rebellious henchmen under control lead to her unusual romance. Robert Taylor has a dynamic role as a powerful night life figure who saves the girl's heritage from underworld domination. Perhaps strangest of any role in screen history is that of Pinky Tomlin who oddly enough plays himself. He appears as a country boy who tries to crash the big-time entertainment world and succeeds after several rebuffs.

"Hellorado"

Comes a time in the career of every comedian when he must have a stooge, and Stepin Fetchit, ace of eight-balls, is no exception. In Fox "Hellorado," Jesse L. Lasky's spectacular Fox Film production, which comes to the King's Theatre on Tuesday, Stepin has annexed a midnight miniature of himself, 6-year-old Lucky Hurle. Lucky, like Stepin, is pitchdark and lazy. And he can shuffle a mean hoof, or tap the hardwood, with equal finesse. In "Hellorado," both Stepin and his piccanniny-partner do some impromptu singing, hoofing and acting but studio workers are said to have found it hard to keep them both awake for their scenes. Lucky, too, loves his sleep. "Hellorado" was directed by James Richard Arlen and Madge Evans in the leading roles. Other featured players include Ralph Bellamy, James Gleason, Henry B. Walthall, Helen Jerome Eddy, Gordeau Short, Patricia Farr, Stanley Fields and Berton Churchill.

"Sophie Lung"

Feminity is coming back into its own this season; ruffles, bows, loops, drapes in every conceivable place are being used in the new summer fashions being created by Travis Banton, Paramount style head. For Gertude Michael, appearing in "The Notorious Sophie Lung," coming to the Alhambra Theatre on Sunday, the noted style authority has designed a stunning dinner dress of black chiffon, with a high, round neck and wide flat loops of the material at the shoulders to form the sleeves. The dress is form-fitting, but there is a flounce of the material just below the knees, fastened with tiny loops of the chiffon. A large stitched taffeta hat and elbow length gloves are worn. In "The Notorious Sophie Lung," Miss Michael is given ample opportunity to wear many new creations, which were designed for her by Travis Banton, the Paramount studios' fashion creator. In the film, Miss

Michael plays the role of a glamorous, international adventuress, who outwits her rivals and the police by her charm and beauty. She plays her trade throughout two continents eluding her pursuers, and her lovers—for she steals diamonds and hearts with equal abandon. How she finally wins her freedom and finds real love in the heart of her greatest rival, brings the film to an entertaining climax. Ralph Murphy is the director.

"Sequoia"

The most startling innovation in screen entertainment since motion pictures were first discovered is offered in "Sequoia," M-G-M's nature drama featuring Jean Parker, and now showing at the Oriental Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. A human romance is blended into a story of animal life containing such unheard of scenes as a mountain lion and a deer, nature's most deadly enemies, playing together like lambs; hundreds of deer on migrations into high Sierra regions never before photographed by a camera; mountain lions and wolves stalking animal prey; and intimate records of the daily life of such wild animals of coyotes, bears, raccoons, eagles, rattlesnakes, baby fawns, and small lion cubs. Photography that brings gape to audiences obtained by months of "stalking" behind trees and in brush shelters. The pagan beauty of Jean Parker has never been brought out to better advantage than during her scenes as a "girl of the forest." Russell Hardie is virile and convincing as the young forest ranger who finds love with the "Forest Girl." Supporting roles are capably filled by Paul Hurst as Bergman, killer of deer, Samuel Hinds as the naturalist, Edward Brophy as a ranger, and Willie Fung as the oriental house servant, who lives in terror of all wild animals.

"Peck's Bad Boy"

Opening yesterday at the Star Theatre, the Fox Film production, "Peck's Bad Boy," starring Jackie Cooper, was greeted by an enthusiastic audience, which paid it the Kewick, S. Aust.

My father has suffered for a number of years with LUM-BAGO and RHEUMATISM
the severe state being in 8 or 9 weeks at a time each year. Some time ago he tried
'ASPRO' and obtained relief, and they acted wonderfully.

During the last 11 years he has taken very many Tablets, but he enjoys better health and does not get a return of severe pains nor any ill effects from taking your 'ASPRO'.

He would like to recommend anyone suffering from
LUMBAGO or RHEUMATISM to try 'ASPRO' tablets as they give wonderful relief.

Yours sincerely,
(Miss) L. WOLSEY.

12 Months' Sciatica Stopped in a Fortnight with 'ASPRO'

27 Marine Pde.,
ST. KILDA,
June 28, 1932.

Dear Sirs,

For nearly 12 months I have been suffering with Sciatica, and could hardly walk with the pain in both legs. I was recommended to take 'ASPRO,' which I did, night and morning,
with the result that in a fortnight the pain had practically left me, and I was able to walk about in perfect ease.

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) B. L. HARRIS.

The American Bridge League has set the week of Aug. 5 for the summer session of the annual national championship tournament. Many western players are planning to attend this year, due to the fact that the fall session will be in Chicago the first week in December.

Here's a hand that came up in a recent duplicate game at the West Side Duplicate Club in Cleveland.

NEW YORK MARKET

COTTON PRICES LOWER

New York, June 7. Messrs. Handy and Harmon quoted silver at 72½ cents per ounce here to-day.

On the foreign exchange market the dollar was firm against sterling and easy against gold currencies.

On the New York Cotton Exchange prices were ten to fourteen points lower after fluctuating in a thirty point range in a very nervous market. The market was erratic due to the uncertainty regarding the cotton programme and uneasiness over the government pool operations.

Silk prices were one and a half to two and a half points higher. Dealer and import accounts were operating on both sides of the market. Commission houses made scattered sales.—United Press.

Street. In connection with the Government changes.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald left the Palace after an hour's audience with His Majesty, at which the King advised him that he had sent for Mr. Baldwin. The returning Premier was escorted by Sir Olive Wigram, the King's Private Secretary, to his car and was cheered by the crowd which had gathered outside.

Four minutes later, Mr. Baldwin arrived and was immediately shown into the King's apartment, where His Majesty offered him the Premiership, which he accepted. He was only ten minutes with the King and then motored back to Downing Street, but returned to the Palace shortly afterwards with the list of proposed Ministers.

In the meantime, all the Ministers of the National Government assembled to say good-bye to Mr. MacDonald. He and most of them left for the Palace at 5.30 p.m., notable among them being Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, who had not yet attained Cabinet rank.

BIGGER CABINET

Mr. Baldwin's Cabinet numbers 22, compared with 20 under Mr. MacDonald, but the balance of the three parties is hardly affected, as its consists of 16 Conservatives, three National Labourites and four National Liberals, compared with 14 Conservatives, three National Labourites and three National Liberals formerly.

Among the Conservatives, Sir John Gilmour and Sir Hilton Young are no longer members, but the Marquis of Zetland, Lord Eustace Percy and Mr. Anthony Eden have been brought in.

The appointment of Mr. Ernest Brown to Cabinet rank adds one National Liberal to the representation, while the National Labourites are unchanged in number, as Lord Sankey goes out but Mr. Malcolm MacDonald comes in.

Sir John Simon, as head of the Home Office, becomes His Majesty's principal Secretary of State and by becoming Deputy leader in the Commons restores the Home Secretarship to its former position, in which its holder was the Premier's right-hand man in the House.—Reuter.

PREMIER'S STATEMENT

London, June 8. On resigning the Premiership, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald issued a message from 10 Downing Street saying he had long realised that he would have to seek a respite from the heavy and continuous strain which the critical conditions of the last six years, both at home and abroad, had imposed on him as Prime Minister.

NEED OF UNITY

"I have been greatly concerned lest any change in the personnel of the Government should weaken its national character and throw our politics back upon partisan lines, whether Conservative, Liberal or Labour," he says. "I am convinced that such a step would speedily undo the policy which has led this country thus far through its difficulties and given it that confidence and prospects it now enjoys.

"I have presided over a Cabinet diverse in general political principles as few Cabinets, even those drawn from a single party, have been. Such a Cabinet is still required so that the national progress shall be maintained and the problems, both domestic and foreign, with which we are faced shall be surmounted.

"Therefore, though I am compelled to seek temporarily a re-

VERDICT OF SUICIDE WHILE OF UNSOUND MIND

London, June 7. The result of the inquest on Mrs. Rattenbury on June 5 was suicide while of unsound mind.

The coroner read out extracts of letters including one from Mrs. Rattenbury addressed to the Governor of Pontonville Prison which ran, "If I only thought that it would help Stoner I would stay on, but it has been pointed out to me all too vividly that I cannot help him. That is my death sentence."

The doctor gave evidence that Mrs. Rattenbury died from wounds in the heart, self-inflicted, and that death was instantaneous.—Reuter.
